14:30	Opening Remarks
14:35	Keynote: Development of New Economy in HK  Ms Silvia Chen Head Of China Issuer Services Senior Vice President HKEX
15:00	Tokenisation – Fad or Future for Collectible Investment Is digital token the way to go for investment in valuable art and collectibles? NFTs (non-fungible tokens) have made headlines for drawing jaw-dropping investments in digital art and other forms of valuable collectables. Is NFT what it's touted to be – an innovative way to monetise a more diverse range of collectables and to access a wider pool of investors/buyers, or is it just a bubble doomed to burst as detractors caution? Is it just for daredevil investors/collectors, or is it where the smart money is flowing to?         Dr Gordon Yen Chairman, HKBAN / Founding Managing Partner Radiant Tech Ventures MODERATOR   Mr James Ho Director of Strategic Partnerships Animoca Brands   Mr Edmond Lau Chief Financial Officer Babel Capital   Ms Queenie Wong Vice President C Ventures   Mr Jehan Chu Co-Founder & Managing Partner Kenetic Capital
16:00	Mobility – Moving Beyond Limits What smart ways are emerging for moving people and goods? Transporting people or goods from point A to point B, regardless of distance or boundary, could be as simple as pressing a button. Innovation in autonomous driving, logistics management, construction and infrastructure, energy, mobility-as-a-service and more is set to overhaul the way we live, move about, work, travel and communicate in the not-too-distant future. What smart moves must investors plan to get onboard of this ride to a new paradigm in collectible investment?        Mr Raymond Wong Head of Investment HKSTP MODERATOR   Mr Gordon Shaw Managing Director Baring Private Equity Asia   Mr James Leung Business Development Director – Overseas Business Geek+   Mr Paul Kingstom Investment Director Honeywell Ventures
16:30	Life Science – Invest in Healthcare for Good Diagnosing healthy opportunities for investing in well-being Life matters, arguably more than anything else. This is a powerful motivator driving a valuable stream of innovation to induce more robust outcomes in disease prevention, early diagnosis, treatment, health monitoring, rehabilitation and all things associated with well-being. It stands to reason that cutting-edge biomedicine and healthcare technologies are drawing a lion-share of funding and investments. How should investors diagnose an investment opportunity in this space to ensure a healthy return?        Mr Eric Ng CEO Happiness Capital MODERATOR   Prof Alex Zhavoronkov Founder & CEO Insilico Medicine   Mr Andrew Wong Vice President, Transcendix Johnson & Johnson Innovation, Asia Pacific   Mr Norman Tse Vice President Nan Fung Life Sciences
